LINK' M'GANDLESS

Democratic National Committeeman John H. Wilson, according to Bourbon gossip, may be a candidate for Delegate to Congress in case "Link" Mc-Candless doesn't run. Link has not said whether he will run or not. As a matter of fact, Mr. McCandless, if he wants to run, will say so when the right time comes. Pending the arrival of the right time, McCandless is not saying asything. Nor has Wilson an-nounced what his intentions may be. It is conceivable, say the close observers. that McCandless and Wilson will exchange notes before either one makes a proclamation. By way of conversation, however, Wilson says he cannot afford to run for the office of Delegate.

"It may not be of much consolution to those who paid their income taxes here, but the fact remains that Hawaii paid more income tax into the coffers of your Uncle Samuel last year than did the big state of Oregon," said Internal Revenue Collector Haley yesterday afternoon, commenting on some figures which have been received from the mainland."

Oregon's contribution to the income tax for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1916, from corporations and individuals amounted to $316,233.10, while Hawaii paid $444,083.32.

(Associated Press by Pederal Wireless.) NEW YORK, August 21.-The American Federation of Roman Catholic Societies has assailed the federal administration, basing its attack largely on the handling of the Mexican problem. Authory Matro, secretary of the federation, says that the Roman Catholic protests are against the recognition of Carranga, who is an "arch persecutor of the church," but that the protests are "like a voice in the wilderness. A CATHOLIC CHURCH

The attitude of the Roman Catholic church in the United States was made plain some time ago in an article printed in the semi-official organ of the church, America, attacking John Lind, the personal representative the President sent to Mexico in the early days of the present administration. The editorial says, in part:

'As it appears to me, after considerable reflection, the present situation offers the choice of alternative policies as follows: * * (2) To let the Mexicans themselves undertake, and carry on the work of reconstruction under such restraint and limitations as it may seem necessary and practicable to impose. Violent bombardments are going on in the Vardar Valley. The positions held at the mouth of this valley are the center of hot fighting, for the possession of the valley is vital to the fortunes of both sides. The Allies are said to be rushing reinforcements to support the troops there, and the Italians may be sent to help out. Bussian Menace Grows

Along the Stokhod, where the Rus sians under General Brussiloff are still hammering at the German lines, the fighting has again become terrific in character. The Slave are concentrat ing vast quantities of cannon, and huge nasses of men preparatory to another effort to smash through the Teuton lines and capture Kovel, key point to the whole German position to the north of the Pripet marshes.

Last night the despatches from that sector of the war's fighting told of the continued successes of the Russian attacks, and the whole of the Kovel-Pinsk salient held by the German forges under Field Marshal von Linsingen is threatened by the forward-pressing Slavs. The Teutons have een broken at one point and the Russians are said to be pressing their advantage there. They have taken 1300 idditional prisoners.

Take Mountain Passes South, in the Carpathian passes, the slave are also continuing their ceaseless hammering of the Austrians. They have already reported the fall of Jabcuitzs, commanding the Jablona pass, and yesterday the Petrograd reports old of the fall of the Austrian fortress of Pereskul, on the boundary line beween Galicia and Hungary.

In the fighting west of the Caucasus he Russians are also forging forward. The advance in the direction of the mportant Turkish city of Diarbekr is continuing despite the efforts of the Furks to block the path. Verdun Attacks Pail
